Cracking Adobe Photoshop is not as straightforward as installing it. It requires a few steps to bypass the security measures that are in place. First, you must obtain a cracked version of the software from a trusted source. Once you have downloaded the cracked version, you must disable all security measures, such as antivirus and firewall protection. After this, you must open the crack file and follow the instructions on how to patch the software. Once the patching process is complete, the software is cracked and ready to use.

To customize the experience – for example, to mark a file for friends only – you can also choose to always share the client area through another process. Then you'll get the additional client and collaborative features in Photoshop, such as version-control for comments and files, email notification, and much more. And if you want to do all of this in a connected way and share back to a private project through OneDrive, you get Share for Review with an additional bonus (beta): automatic continuous workflow on design changes with automatic bookkeeping and version history. You can also create a new folder called for example, "Friends." You can start sharing inside these folders and you can share files as you like – sending them out with wording you choose. Anyone in your "friends" folder will then receive a notification and be able to accept or reject the file they just received. Another added bonus for Share for Review beta users: you can submit your revisions directly to Photoshop without having to close the file first. That's because most revisions, comments, and markup-editing tasks on a PSD file are done in the file's client area working on the file. To start a review from the file client area, choose File⇒Add Comment, and you'll see a new comment panel. You can also start a comment by using keyboard shortcuts (or by navigating in the client area): Ctrl+K or Alt+Enter. Any project you're working on in Photoshop will always be for review and managed in the shared client area, so everything you do – such as comments, markup, or edits – is synchronized automatically – and you don't actually need to reboot the computer.
